Response Rate 4/13 (30.77%)

- Erica Stone has been an amazing teacher. She is very open and willing to help her students in any way. She also is very passionate about the community and bringing awareness to the people around. She handles complex and uncomfortable situations perfectly.
- The research project has been really really difficult for me, although I would not take it out of the class. I struggled with it, but it has also forced me to sharpen some skills that I have never had to use.
- Erica is great and anyone who says otherwise is CRAZYyyy
- None

13 - Your comments and suggestions regarding the course and the instructor are important. Please answer the following questions.Comment on the instructor's availability and willingness to help you.

Erica Stone

Response Rate 7/13 (53.85%)

- Erica Stone is always willing to help her students. She responds promptly to emails and is willing to meeting both on and off campus during her free time.
- She was really willing to stay late, come early, or meet up outside of class. She also responds to emails and texts really well.
- Erica was always there for her students ready to help. She went out of her way numerous times to ensure that were prepared for the assigned tasks and would reach success. She is the teacher that wants her students to succeed, and it shows. It was refreshing having an instructor like Erica who took pride in her students and their work.
- Erica was always more than willing to meet with students and eager to answer their questions through in-person meetings, emails, texts, or phone calls.
- Very willing to help and offer feedback
- Very well
- Erica is always willing to help students. She went out of her way to significantly help every student individually even though she also had a ton of things to do. I don't know if I have ever met a teacher more willing to work with students than Erica.

14 - Comment on the major strengths of the instructor.

Erica Stone

Response Rate 7/13 (53.85%)

- A major strength that Erica has is her ability to connect with her students. She is very passionate about her work and sheds her positive light to her students.
- She is very genuine and understand, which makes the class feel more enjoyable and manageable. She held us to high standards, yet always understood that life happens and this class is probably not always a first priority. She was also really flexible and easy to connect with.
- Erica is compassionate, an active listener, and very intelligent instructor. She does a great job of taking a complicated subject and translating it to a group of students who have never even heard of the topic. It was appreciated that she taught in that manner.
- Erica was clearly very passionate about what she was teaching, and she did a great job of structuring this course in a way that was interesting to the group of students in the class.
- Always willing to help and give examples
- Teaching
- Erica is absolutely amazing at bringing in students who are hesitant about literature or English and making projects that allows everyone (majors and non-majors alike) to use their strengths and make it applicable to their studies. I have never met a teacher more who wants to work with students and help them and really form a good relationship. She also has this awesome skill of being able to name a ton of authors/books/articles at the drop of a hat based on whatever topic you are interested in. By the end of the semester she knew each student individually, which I think is key to being a good teacher. She also is totally willing to change things quickly and improvise if something is not working (whereas other professors often stick to a plan even when it is clear no students are interested).

15 - How could this instructor improve?

Erica Stone

Response Rate	5/13 (38.46%)

- I think her style was really appropriate for the class that she set up, so I wouldn't change much about how she taught.
- Nothing.
- One way that Erica could improve by connecting the course materials/topics. Often, it seemed like we jumped around to different topics, and I sometimes struggled to understand how they all related to one another and to the topic of the course.
- Having more class periods
- Like most people, she could probably work on organization and time management. But honestly, that never really detracted from learning so I can't really complain.

16 - Comment on the aspects of this course that contributed to your learning.

Response Rate	6/13 (46.15%)

- She has made me a better learner and student by making me become more organized and able to manage my time more wisely. She does this by giving long big community projects.
- The research project has been a huge challenge, allowing me to improve my skills in thinking, analyzing, conducting research, and writing. I also liked presenting the textbook to each other in parts, rather than reading it all. I definitely retained a lot more information than I would have by reading it all, if I even read it at all.
- I appreciated the group discussion and the Algeo presentations.
- I enjoyed hearing class presentations from my peers and also being able to conduct a research project in an area that interested me. Overall, the amount of choice that we had in this course served to be very beneficial in creating an intellecutally stimulating course.
- None
- I enjoyed the student led presentations and the fun activities everyone brought to do for the different periods of English development. When ever we would be assigned a reading, I liked how challenging it was and how I had to really work to understand it and be engaged in discussion. Working with Erica on our final projects was also so cool, and I loved how everyone got the chance to do personalized research projects!!

17 - Comment on the aspects of this course that could be changed (i.e., added or deleted).

Response Rate	6/13 (46.15%)

- I liked the course. I wouldn't really change much about it.
- I did not care for the Summary and Reflections. However, I understand it was a tactic to give formative assessment on student learning of the text.
- I think it would be helpful to include some transitions/connections between topics provided by the teacher in order to connect the different topics that we covered in this course.
- Perhaps purely make this a research class?
- None
- I wish I wouldn't have had to buy the books for the class because we didn't end up using them (which wasn't really Erica's fault because she thought the class was all education majors).

18 - Comment on the usefulness of the assigned text or reading material.

Response Rate	6/13 (46.15%)

- The Algeo text was very dry and pretty difficult to read at times, but I think it was useful in the way that it was learned (presentations). Some of the outside reading was helpful to the research project, it just depended what project you chose.
- Helpful.
- The textbook presented the information in an interesting and understandable way. I also enjoyed the supplimental readings because they helped us apply what we were learning.
- We didn't use a book really
- None
- Not the most useful, but not Erica's fault (because she thought it was all education majors).

19 - Other comments.

Response Rate	4/13 (30.77%)

- This was a really interesting class! It was unlike any others that I have taken, and I enjoyed getting to experience and observe a different approach to teaching English. I appreciate all of the time and concern that you put into the class for us. Have a great summer!!
- Had a wonderful semester with Erica Stone as my instructor.
- None
- Love, love, LOVED working with Erica this semester and learning from her! I've never had such a great adjunct experience. I hope Rockhurst continues to have her back (and hire her if she wants it!!!). Definitely a treasure of a teacher.
